DEFINITIONS

Child Abuse

Includes physical, emotional and sexual abuse and/or neglect. It also addresses a pattern of abuse and risks of harm.

Physical Abuse is any deliberate physical force or action, by a parent or caregiver, which results, or could result, in injury to a child. It can include bruising, cuts, punching, slapping, beating, shaking, burning, biting or throwing a child. Using belts, sticks or other objects to punish a child can cause serious harm and is also considered abuse.

Neglect occurs when a caregiver fails to provide basic needs such as adequate food, sleep, safety, education, clothing or medical treatment. It also includes leaving a child alone or failing to provide adequate supervision. If the caregiver is unable to provide the child with basic needs due to financial inability, it is not considered neglect, unless relief has been offered and refused

Emotional Abuse is a pattern of behaviour that attacks a child's emotional development and sense of self-worth. It includes excessive, aggressive or unreasonable demands that place expectations on a child beyond his or her capacity. Emotional abuse includes constantly criticizing, teasing, belittling, insulting, rejecting, ignoring or isolating the child. It may also include exposure to domestic violence

Sexual Abuse occurs when a child is used for the sexual gratification of an adult or an older child. The child may co-operate because he or she wants to please the adult or out of fear. It includes sexual intercourse, exposing a child's private areas, indecent phone calls, fondling for sexual purposes, watching a child undress for sexual pleasure, and allowing/forcing a child to look at or perform in pornographic pictures or videos, or engage in prostitution.

Reasonable Grounds

Refers to the information that an average person, using unbiased and honest judgement, would need in order to decide to report.

POLICY REGULATIONS

- 1.0 The NCDSB shall ensure that employees are aware of the definitions of child abuse.
- 2.0 All NCDSB employees and volunteers will adhere to related acts and responsibilities to report suspected child abuse.
- 3.0 All employees will be reminded annually of their legal obligations to report suspected cases of child abuse or neglect.
- 4.0 The dignity and privacy of the child/youth will be respected in all circumstances.
- 5.0 Employees or volunteers, in the course of performing their professional or official duties, suspect that a child is or may be in need of protection must report this information without delay to a children's aid society.
- 6.0 The duty to report is an ongoing obligation, and every person who has reasonable grounds to suspect that a child is or may be in need of protection must make a report directly to a children's aid society and not rely on anyone else to report on their behalf.
- 7.0 Employees will provide relevant information to an investigation, according to their legal rights and provisions of legislated acts.
- 8.0 Appropriate documentation shall be maintained by employees who receive a disclosure and those who report suspected child abuse. Notes shall be secured in a secured place and retained permanently, in accordance with Privacy Information Management requirements.
- 9.0 In the event that disclosure is made against an NCDSB employee, the duty to report will be exercised. Under no circumstance shall the implicated staff member be made aware of the allegations or disclosures until specific instructions are received from the investigating agency.

- 10.0 Upon notice of an allegation of abuse against an employee of the NCDSB, which the Director of Education (or designate) believes is serious, the Director of Education shall remove the employee from direct unsupervised contact with students.
- 11.0 Administrative procedures will accompany this policy and be reviewed regularly to ensure compliance with current regulations and requirements.
